

A photograph of a tree trunk with rough, textured bark. The trunk is covered in patches of green moss. A red-bordered area on the right side of the trunk highlights a specific section of the bark. A thin, dark branch extends horizontally across the middle of the trunk. The ground at the base of the trunk is covered with dry, brown leaves and some green grass.

First picture area.

There is a similar area here.

